

Mutually Exclusive

- C: What is the difference between the two, definition and definiendum?
- D: They are mutually exclusive.
- C: It follows that the subjects, the two—definition and definiendum, are mutually exclusive.
- D: I accept it.
- C: The subjects, the two—definition and definiendum, are mutually exclusive—
- D: Because (1) they are different and (2) a common locus of the two is not possible.
- C: It follows that a common locus of the two, definition and definiendum, is not possible.
- D: I accept it
- C: A common locus of the two, definition and definiendum, is not possible—
- D: Because (1) whatever is a definition is necessarily not a definiendum and (2) whatever is a definiendum is necessarily not a definition.
- C: It follows that if (1) whatever is a definition is necessarily not a definiendum and (2) whatever is a definiendum is necessarily not a definition, then a common locus of the two, definition and definiendum, is not possible,
- D: I Accept it
